

'The general philosophy of this strategy is to use the heuristic information to assess the "merit" latent in every candidate search avenue exposed during the search and then continue the exploration along the direction of highest merit.'

— Dechter and Pearl, [1985]